WORLD

Both Croatia and Slovenia proclaimed independence on June 25, and within 24 hours, military were rolling toward border crossings and airports, attempting to secure the country. The trade of artillery fire began.

Strong ethnic and political divisions have existed in the country for centuries, but the peaceful co-existence that has been maintained in the region for decades has splintered.

Serbia's Communist-turned-Socialist president, Slobodan Milosevic, wants Yugoslavia to survive as a federation even if Slovenia and Croatia secede. But he says the Serb minority in Croatia must remain part of the federation.

As a former Gorbachev adviser spoke to the crowds, denouncing the coup and demanding that Gorbachev be allowed to address the Soviet people, hands were raised in applause.

TERRY ANDERSON FREED
Terry Anderson emerged on December 4, 1991, from the dark hole of 6½ years of captivity in Lebanon and was handed over to U.S. officials, ending a brutal hostage ordeal for both himself and the United States.

Asked what had kept him going in captivity, Anderson, the chief Middle East correspondent for The Associated Press, said it was his companions, his faith and his stubbornness.

"You just do what you have to do," he said. "You wake up every day and summon up energy from somewhere, and you get through the day, day after day, day after day."

Anderson, 44, the longest-held Western hostage, came to personify the year-long, man-eating hostage ordeal. Asked if he had any last words for his kidnappers, he rolled his eyes and said: "Goodbye."

The freedom of Anderson marked the end of the hostage saga that haunted two American presidencies.

He was the 13th and last American to be freed since Shiite extremists in Lebanon launched a campaign of seizing foreigners in Lebanon to drive out Western influence which they claimed corrupted the nation. Many of the Americans were tortured and beaten during their captivity, and three died.

KUWAIT OIL WELL FIRES

Firefighters were unprepared for the sight they were met with in Kuwait — scores of oil wells sending plumes of red and orange flames 30 yards into the air. Oil lakes and soot blackened the sand.

During the seventh-month Iraqi occupation of Kuwait, more than 730 oil wells were damaged or set ablaze. Firefighting crews have been able to extinguish 584 wells since the effort began in March 1991.

When the effort to combat the blazes began in March, it took an average of four days to put out one well fire. Now the teams are averaging 8.5 wells each day, according to Oil Minister Hamous al-Rquba.

Oil experts say that if the effort continues at the same rate, the wells should be capped before the end of the year, earlier than the projected date of March 1992.

KURDISH REFUGEES

About 2 million Iraqi Kurds and other minorities fled north in April 1991 when Kurdish rebels in the north and Shiite Muslim rebels in the south failed to oust President Saddam Hussein in the aftermath of the Persian Gulf War. At least 6,700 of the Iraqi refugees died fleeing to the Turkish border.

The most common causes of death among the Kurds were diarrhea, respiratory infections and trauma, the Center for Disease Control reported. And 63 percent of all deaths occurred among children under age five.

Military units from the United States and at least seven other countries participated in a relief effort along with civilian agencies from about 20 countries. The relatively quick, cooperative response helped keep the death rate as low as it was.

"There were U.S. soldiers, Dutch nurses and Red cross Workers working side by side. There was very little friction," Dr. Michael J. Toole of the CDC's International Health Program Office said. "It really was an unprecedented effort."

The United States spent about $443 million on the Kurdish relief effort.

NATIONAL NEWS

MAGIC JOHNSON

Magic Johnson, whose beaming smile and sparkling play entertained basketball fans for more than a decade, announced on November 7, 1991, that he has tested positive for the AIDS virus and was retiring.

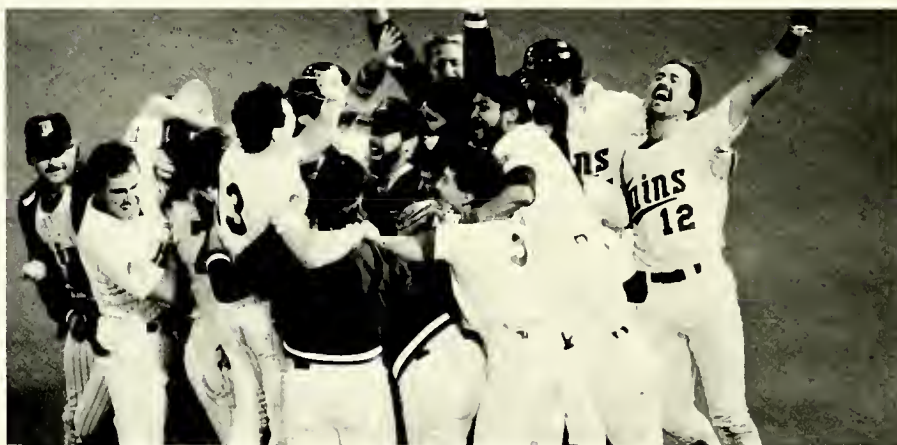

"Because of the HIV virus I have attained, I will have to announce my retirement from the Lakers today," Johnson told reporters at the Forum, where he played for 12 superstar seasons with the Los Angeles Lakers.

"I plan on going on, living for a long time," he said. Johnson said he would become an AIDS activist and campaign for safe sex.

More than just a basketball star who led the Lakers to five NBA championships, Johnson has been a philanthropist, a prominent corporate spokesman and a role model for young people. His broad grin, familiar nickname and electrifying ability have made him familiar to people around the world.

"I'm going to go on, I'm going to beat it and I'm going to have fun," he insisted, displaying some of the irrepressible zest for life that he brought daily to the basketball court.

Johnson, whose given name is Earvin, received his nickname from a Lansing, Michigan, sportswriter after a 36-point, 18-rebound, 16-assist performance in high school.

World Series

After all the twists, turns and tension, the closest of World Series ended in the closest of games.

The Minnesota Twins and Jack Morris squeezed past the Atlanta Braves 1-10 on pinch-hitter Gene Larkin's single in the bottom of the 10th inning on October 27, 1991, to win Game 7 and end baseball's most dramatic odyssey.

Never before had three Series games gone into extra innings, and the Braves and Twins saved the best for last, matching zero for zero, pressure pitch for pitch, even turning back bases-loaded threats in the same inning.

"Someone had to go home a loser, but there's no loser in my mind," Morris said, "Those are two of the greatest teams. I just didn't want to quit. Somehow, we found away to win this thing."

Desert Storm Commander General Norman Schwarzkopf gave a thumbs up to the crowd as he made his way up Broadway during New York's Operation Welcome Home ticker tape parade in June 1991. A fireworks extravaganza capped off the celebration.

Schwarzkopf, General Colin Powell and Defense Secretary Dick Cheney were among the grand marshalls of the New York parade, with over 600,000 people turning out to welcome the soldiers home. More than 1 million people attended a welcome home parade May 19 in Hollywood, and estimated 800,000 turned out for the parade in Washington.

"U.S.A.!" the flag-waving crowd cheered during a half-hour of nighttime fireworks over the East River in New York City. The $1 million display was accompanied by the New York Pops Orchestra. A teary-eyed Korean War veteran said, "These young boys put their lives on the line and now they are getting their reward."

TRIALS OF AMERICA

Jeffery Dahmer

Dahmer was supposedly a convicted child molester, but the police would not check him out. Dahmer finally confessed to murdering over seventeen men within three years. Black and gay leaders claimed that almost all of Dahmer's victims were non-white and homosexual. Even now that he has been convicted, people still cannot explain or understand the motivation for such heinous crimes.

LITTLE RASCALS

Little Rascals was a day care center for children in North Carolina. The owner, Robert Kelly, was indicted on several counts of sexual assault to the children at his day care center. He is expected to serve time in prison. His wife, Elizabeth Kelly was also arrested on the same charges. She will be going to court after her husband's trial ends.

William Kennedy Smith

This past December, William Kennedy Smith was charged with rape by a nameless, faceless woman. She wanted to remain anonymous partially because she was a 30 year old single mother just struggling with all her emotions. Although Smith wasn't convicted, there is still speculation about his innocence. Although there is also speculation on the woman's cross-examination because of the inconsistency in her testimony. Mr. Smith still resides in Palm Beach, where the alleged incident took place. Nothing further is known about the alleged victim.

Anita Hill

Life has not been the same for law professor Anita Hill since going public with allegations that Supreme Court Justice Clarence Thomas sexually harassed her nearly a decade ago.

Hill was valedictorian of her high school in 1973 and went on to Oklahoma State University as a National Merit Scholar, graduating in 1977 with a degree in Psychology. From there she went to Yale University to receive a law degree in 1980.

Most friends and colleagues described her the same way — honest, sincere and a principled person.

Although Thomas was confirmed, professor Hill insisted that by letting her story be known she had accomplished everything she set out to do. "All that's happened has made the general public much more aware of sexual harassment than ever before," said Hill.

She offered one piece of advice to victims of sexual harassment. "Try to find somebody you can trust and tell them," she said, "try to find somebody who can help make you feel that you are not at fault. Find someone you can trust because you can't take it all out on yourself, you can't internalize it."

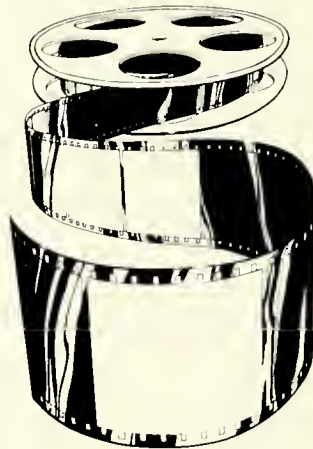

Mike Tyson

An Indianapolis jury, after deliberating 10 hours, convicted Mike Tyson of raping an 18-year-old beauty pageant contestant. At 25 and not yet in his physical prime, Tyson now faces a maximum of 60 years in prison, though he ended up only having to serve six years. Tyson had a good case with a lot of small points on his side. The bigger picture, however, the jury believed his accuser, not him.

SAINT MARY'S ENVIRONMENTAL CLUB

Saint Mary's Environmental Club began in the fall by electing Amy Moore as president, Lori Penney as vice president, and Emily Sprouse as secretary/treasurer. The Big Sweep was a project to help clean up the trash along the side of Lake Raleigh. In October they held a fundraising event between Mr. Lee and Dr. Esthimer to see if students could raise enough money to get both the teachers to stay up all night with the girls in the club. Mr. Lee raised about $80 and Dr. Esthimer, proving to be the favorite among the students, raised about $90. The club also went to businesses in surrounding areas to ask for donations. Overall the club raised $860 to donate to the Triangle Land Conservancy for Swift Creek Bluffs. In January and February they sold tee-shirts with the slogan "Don't Be A Grouch, Recycle," and bead necklaces. In the spring, they bought an acre of rain forest in South America through the International Land Conservancy. The club also goes hiking in various places and plans a special trip each year.

Front: Tisha Carroll, Ashley Reeves, Robin Bullard.

The Four Year Girls is a club composed of girls who have attended Saint Mary's beginning their junior year in high school through their sophomore year in college. To these girls Saint Mary's is truly a place to be cherished. They have learned to relate to both the high school and college sections of Saint Mary's because they have experienced both perspectives. Saint Mary's is just like a second home to these girls.

GRANDDAUGHTERS CLUB

The Granddaughters Club consists of students who are direct descendants Saint Mary's Alumnae. The club was established in 1909 by Kate McKimmon to keep close ties with the Alumnae Association, continue the traditions of the college, build new traditions, and to promote school spirit.

The mascot of the Granddaughters Club is Aldert Smedes, the founder of Saint Mary's in 1842. Supposedly, his ghost lives in the attic of Smedes and walks with these Ghostbusters every fall to tap new members.

The projects that the members are responsible for are sending the student body Halloween treats every year, the luminaries for the Lighting 'O the Grove, help with the party given each year to the graduating college class, and present a chapel service, as well as other community projects throughout the year. This year the members, along with the Alumnae Association, put together a spectacular birthday party for Saint Mary's sesquicentennial birthday, an event not to be forgotten.

SILENT S

Silent S is a secret club at St. Mary's. The walks and the members are also a secret until the day after the walk. On this day the new members wear all red and a red ribbon on their wrists. Silent S is moving up and doing greater things each year for the school and the community. So watch for us!

For example, the members send out birthday notes and congratulatory notes when girls get initiated into various other clubs. Throughout the year they remain anonymous because it is the giving and not the receiving which they emphasize.

"For kindness is indeed sublime and worth the trouble anytime. Sincerity is all we need to help us do a friendly deed."

Full of the same hope and promise as when you were 2 years old! You can be or do anything you want. The future is in your hands! We love you! Mom, Dad, Sarah, Daniel, & Kyle

We take our past with us into the future. What we have shared here moves forward with us — to be continued by our children . . .

The Stagecoach gratefully acknowledges the help of Margaret McGlohon, Betty Adams, Pam Dameron, Christine Thomson, and especially that of Mary Virginia Swain.
